New York Drives Levan From Mount But Hudlin Proves Effective.

Cleveland, O., May 21.—(A. P.)—Cleveland defeated New York here today 5 to 4 in 12 innings, putting the series two out of three in the Indians' favor. The Yankees knocked Levan out of the box in the first inning, scoring three runs on five hits before Hudlin went to the mound. The pitcher proved effective through the remainder of the game.

It was Joseph Beatty of A.D. who was presented with the diploma. He was the most valuable player in the game in 1926, a silver bat containing $1,000 in cash and an automobile.

Four marks, including two of the oldest on the books, were erased during the final, while a fifth was equalled, aside from the new standard created in the shot put by Tatarschoff, of Cass Tech, in the preliminaries Friday afternoon.

Beatty's Work Stands Out.

While Northwestern was pinned to trail the Colts it supplied the high point score in Europe. Beatty, who equaled the record to win the pole vault, led from in his high jump and taking fourth place in the shot put and hammer for 17 points. This all-around performance together with that of Lewis in shortening the quadruple mark, equalled the high light of the meet. Two out of three who surprised both Falcon stars collaborated in defeating Northwestern as the regular champion.

But their work was not enough to handle the Colts from the inside. The Northwestern pair was forced to carry the burden almost alone while Northwestern had its best score for the day in the shot put and hammer for 17 points.
