ANNUAL GAMES BETWEEN TWO CLASSES HELD

Water Battle Called Draw With Juniors Claiming Victory

Many juniors and seniors in the St. Joseph high school today were nursing cuts, bruises, stiff legs and colds as the result of the annual battle between members of the two junior classes at Wells field yesterday afternoon.

Although the seniors copped the inter-class track meet from the Juniors by scoring 78½ points to the 46½ points collected by their under class men, the 1929 boys celebrated last night because they were victorious in the rough and tumble flag rush which took them but four and one half minutes to win.

Juniors Take Flag Rush

After the seniors under the leadership of Captain Moulty Davis, who won three firsts, had copped the track meet, the lowly juniors organized 50 feet from the flag which hung on a rope strung between two high poles. When the gun was fired by Referee Milton the two groups of upper classmen came together and the juniors rushed for the flag. They were to have 20 minutes in which to complete the task. The cocky seniors outnumbered their opponents and had a slight advantage in size and weight. However, the 1929 boys were tough and drove in, slugging right and left and taking the same. The clay dust began to roll high as the boys hit the ground; things began to fly and shirts soon disappeared. Several times the juniors would hoist one of their classmates high into the air to reach the pennant and each time the seniors would knock them down with a thump.

Max Barr, a junior, crept around the crowd of several hundred thrilled spectators and came up from behind one of the poles. He had nearly reached the rope when a senior girl let out a shriek that could be heard for blocks and a moment later Barr lay flat on the hard clay.

The slugging, kicking and wrestling went on for nearly five minutes when Chucky Clark, the captain-elect of the football team, made a fast dash and stepped on one of the seniors' back and was raised high enough into the air to reach the well-guarded flag. Clark's right hand clutched the blue pennant and he had it in his grasp when he landed on the ground. More than 40 boys piled over him and required some time to untangle the mass. Clark was hoisted on the shoulders of his classmates as they paraded about the field.

Water Fight Draw

In the water fight which ended the day, the judges called it a draw. However, the scrappy juniors deserve the decision in view of the fact that they knocked down more men than did their upperclassmen and held their position much better.

Although there were many hard knocks and blows exchanged none of the participants were seriously injured. Several are a little under the weather today.

The festivities were witnessed by a huge crowd of high school students and outsiders.
