Not a single Lansing school is expected to create much of a breeze in the 37th annual Michigan High School Athletic association track and field championships at Michigan State college tomorrow but there are at least three central Michigan schools with enough cinder strength to make their presence felt during the day-long event.

Although coaches at Charlotte, Fowlerville and Bath won't give their own chances a tumble in the wide-open scramble for medals and points, it is a dead cinch that all three squads will be near the top when the final tabulations are posted along towards sundown Saturday.

There are about four good teams in the district which are about ready to clinch their titles. The most likely to do so are Fowlerville, Charlotte and Bath.

Fowlerville has had quite an attractive year, tying for C. I. A. title in the 100, 200 and 400 yard track championships and the 100, 200 and 400 yard runs. Besides this Coach Malcolm Gobel, despite his pessimism, has five other champions qualified in their classes.

Charlotte has to be considered in Class B. A bounding speedster named Harold Chorney is the principal reason. Chorney is expected to be in the 100, 200 and 400 yard runs. Besides this Coach Malcolm Gobel, despite his pessimism, has five other champions qualified in their classes.

Bath is a dark horse. The team finished better than fourth in a pair of good 400 yard sprints in the 100, 200 and 400 yard runs. Besides this Coach Malcolm Gobel, despite his pessimism, has five other champions qualified in their classes.

IOWA STATE FAVORED IN CINDER CARNIVAL

LINCOLN, Neb., May 19 (AP)—Nebraska, accustomed to more than their share of Big Six track and field championships, are a little and about tomorrow's outdoor meet here because they were with all time records who have been making the crown will go to Iowa State, rather than a champion.

The navy-strengthened Iowa State Cyclones captured the indoor title for the first time this year, and nobody else to track and field here has much done; they will pull into town tomorrow with enough strength to make it a double win.

CONFERENCE MAKES FALL GRID PLANS

JACKSON, Miss., May 19 (AP)—The Southeastern football conference, hindered by war drains on the manpower since Pearl Harbor, plans to field teams from 11 of its 12 schools this fall.

Yandell, alone probably will not take on conference teams. Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi were authorized yesterday by the Mississippi board of education to complete grid schedules and plan their 1944 football year. The board lifted a war duration ban on intercollegiate athletics.

An all-around cog in the education wheel at Davette high school will be missing next fall when classes are called to inaugurate another school year.
