Fair Weather Greets Derby

Olympia Retains Favorite Rating.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (UP) — The sun shone through broken clouds over Churchill Downs today and the weather man said it looked like a fine day for the 100,000 fans gathering for the Diamond Jubilee running of the Kentucky Derby.

As the weather bureau changed an earlier forecast of thunder-showers to one of partly cloudy and cool, the odds were expected to narrow on the favorite, Fred Hooper's Olympia.

Earlier, owners of 13 rivals in the race had been hoping for a muddy track to better their chances of winning the traditional blanket of roses, the diamond-studded trophy and the big money prize.

If all 14 horses go to the post, the payoff to the winner will be a huge $91,600, big but still below the record of $96,400 Assault won in 1946. The value of the trophy is increased to $10,000 this year because the traditional cup has been studded with 40 diamonds in honor of the 75th annual running of the race.

The derby field was expected to go to the post at 5:30 p. m. (EST).

Isidor Bieber's Palestinian seemed likely to go to the post as the second choice in the mile-and-a-quarter run to glory.

The bettors remembered how Palestinian chased Olympia down to the wire in the Wood Memorial two weeks ago before losing by a neck.

After Palestinian the crowd seemed to like the Greentree Stable's entry of Capot, and Wine List, Clifford Mooer's Old Rockport, who defeated Olympia earlier this year in winning the Santa Anita Derby, and Woodvale Farm's Halt, winner of the Blue Grass Stakes.

Making up the rest of the field were Afton Villa Farm's Jack's Town, Calumet Farm's Ponder, Joe Goodwin's Ky. Colonel, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Model Cadet, J. A.

Sain And Spahn Keep Braves Out In Front

(By Associated Press)

Sain and Spahn, the Boston Braves' two-man pitching staff, are back in business as a winning combination.

Last year, Manager Billy Southworth's success formula was the familiar, "Sain, Spahn and rain". It may be the same story all over again.

After a shaky start, in which both Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn, his left-handed partner, failed to win their first two outings, the boys are back in stride.

Southworth is getting help from Vern Bickford, Bill Voiselle and young Johnny Antonelli, but Sain and Spahn again are his old reli-ables. They have accounted for four of the last five Boston wins in the club's march to first place.

Spahn bettered Sain's Thursday night effort with a fine four-hitter against the Cincinnati Reds last night. The 6-1 decision cemented the Braves' hold on the National League lead.

It was a great day for the left-handers in both leagues with five of the seven games going to southpaw pitchers. Johnny Schmitz of the Chicago Cubs, Montia Kennedy of the New York Giants, Bill Wight of the Chicago White Sox and rookie Bob Shantz of the Philadelphia A's joined Spahn as successful lefties. Only righthander winners were Russ Meyer of the Phillies and Paul Calvert of Washington.

Spahn had a shutout going until the ninth when Hank Sauer belted his third homer of the season. He struck out eight and walked only two in winning his third straight.

Johnny Schmitz's old hex on the Brooklyn Dodgers held good as he ruined their home night opening before 30,041 fans with a 4-2 Chicago win. The classy southpaw defeated the Brooks six times last season but he had a close call in the ninth inning last night.

Kennedy turned in a fine workmanlike effort against the St. Louis Cardinals as the Giants hung up their first shutout victory, 3-0.

Wolverines Knock Illini From Lead

Purdue Out Ahead In Big Nine Race.

ANN ARBOR—P—The Illini had blood in their eyes as they came back today for the second in a two-game baseball series with Michigan's Wolverines.

The visitors were roughly dumped in Friday's contest here, bowing 8 to 3 to the left-hand slants of Walt Rankin, and dropping out of the league lead.

Not only that, but the Wolve-

Bobby Schantz Proves Little Guy Can Do It

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Bobby Schantz is living proof today that a little guy with a big heart can attain greatness.

The little lefthander from Pottstown, Pa., grabbed the break when it came his way and turned in the greatest pitching performance of the infant 1949 baseball season at Detroit yesterday.

Had the game ended in the 12th, Schantz would have become the second pitcher in more than 20 years to pitch a no-hitter in
