Hurryin' Henry Carr had company in celebrity row Monday as the City League launched its annual track and field championships at Mackenzie High.

Carr, whom many of the 500 spectators came to see, turned in another fine performance.

His .206 effort in the 220, with less than a one-mile-an-hour wind at his back, tied his own national and conference record.

HENRY WAS caught in .087 in the 100, one-tenth of a second off his own league record. Carr had to share Monday's limelight with Terry Moore, the 155-pound Redford senior who turned in the greatest half-mile of his young life.

Terry sped over the fast track in 1:56.7, only one-tenth of a second off the league record set in 1959 by Mac Umstatt.

Moore will get another crack at the record Thursday when the West Side finals are staged over the same track.

Although he ran a creditable 4:28 mile, Dick Sharkey of Redford was not happy.

"My goal is 4:15," he said with disgust, "and I've got only another week to hit it."

Northwestern, the defending champion and heavy favorite, appeared ready to live up to its notices.

Coach Tom Hendricks got 16 qualifying positions in the nine events staged Monday. Redford was second in qualifying positions with 15.
