Way to Washington

Alston said the Dodgers wanted Breeding, the Senators' leading hitter with a .374 average, to "give us a little more right-hand hitting."

Of Roebuck, who was 10-2 last year as the Dodgers made their run for the pennant, Alston said, "Roebuck's been with the club a long time, but you can't get something without giving up something. "I was always able to get along with Roebuck."
