Reading combined a strong team effort with some unexpected victories to win Class B at the warfare track meet in Marquette on Saturday. Marshall's coach, John D. Bowers, said that his team was not as good as last year but that they were able to win several places in the Class B event.

The meet was held at the warfare track in Marquette, Mich., and was sponsored by the Marquette Athletic Club. It was the first time that the warfare track has been used for a track meet.

Marshall's victory was due to a combination of factors. The team was well prepared for the meet and they were able to execute their plan perfectly. They were also able to take advantage of the weather, which was very hot and humid.

The meet was a success for all involved. The athletes showed great skill and determination. The spectators enjoyed the event and the coaches were proud of their teams.

Everett's Wells Soars Near 13-6

'Positive Thinking' Helps Vaulters

By HAL RAYMAN

BATTLE CREEK — Positive thinking is beginning to take hold in the vaulting circles of the area. Everett's Wells is a case in point. The 13-year-old athlete is a member of the Battle Creek team and he has been making headlines for his positive attitude.

Wells' coach, John D. Bowers, said that Wells' success is due to his "positive thinking." Bowers said that Wells always tells himself that he is going to win and that he is going to do it.

Wells' performance was one of the highlights of the meet. He vaulted to a height of 13 feet 6 inches, which is a record for his age group.

Wells' success has inspired other vaulters in the area. They are all trying to follow his example and to use "positive thinking" to help them in their own vaulting.
