LPGA Title Won By B. Burfeindt

BALTIMORE (AP) — If Bobby Burfeindt slips quietly back to the 18th green at the Five Farms Golf Course here this quiet time she's in town, it's not because she still can't believe the path that gave her the 54th annual Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

"If I hit it the same way 20 times, it would probably never go," the 30-year-old Miss Burfeindt said Sunday after posting her first tournament victory since 1971.

The winning 10-foot putt on the 36th, which left Miss Burfeindt beside herself trying to explain it, snapped a tie with Judy Rankin. Both contenders toured the municipal Pine Ridge course in two-under-par 71 Sunday and finished the final round of the 72-hole event the same way they started the day's play — one stroke apart.

The winner's 287 total was her strokes under par.

For a while, though, it appeared that a late rally would give Mrs. Rankin her third win at Pine Ridge in the past four years. Three down at the turn, she pulled even with birdies on the 12th and 13th holes following a bogey by Miss Burfeindt at No. 11.

But then came what the winner, finally described as the miracle putt which sailed down the 18,000 final price.

"When I hit it, I knew I missed it," she said. "I pushed it, sort of eased into it. You had two inches outside when it was only six inches from the cup, but it dove in — and I don't know how. There was no way that the ball was going to go against the grain . . . but it did."
