1986 CROSS COUNTRY CLINIC - - - - FOURTEENTH ANNUAL JEFF DRENTH: FOREVER LOVED, FOREVER LOVING By Greg Lautenslager (Athletics West) God made me fast. and when I run, I feel His pleasure. - Ian Charleson "Chariots of Fire Fifty-thousand spectators, packed inside Olympic Stadium in Tokyo, Japan, rose instantly as a flash of red, white, and blue burst boldly by two red-topped Russians and into the lead in the final mile of the 10,000 meters, the final and deciding race of the USA-USSR-Japan track and field meet last September. In order for the U.S. to beat the Soviets and capture the men's team title, the American would have to finish ahead of both Russians. The crowd's roar expanded as the valiant American gamely tried to break away from his competitors. Finally, with two laps to go, the Russians dropped off the torrid pace. The Japanese favorite moved up on the American's heels, and now the final battle was on. The roar intensified. The choppy Japanese runner, in custom all-whites, tried to surge ahead of his opponent several times on the next lap but the fearless American was there to answer every desperate charge. The clanging of the bell could not be heard over the deafening roar as the two men raced into the final lap. The long striding American, his bronze shoulders glowing with perspiration, held off another surge around the first turn. But, finally, into the final backstretch, the gritty Japanese revved up his engines, dug his spikes into the red track surface, jetted into the lead, and at last drew away from the tenacious American. The crowd sustained the roar, praising its countryman for his great feat. But they also endeared the American for his brave, heroic effort, for he had pushed hero to the limit, fought off the two Russian nemises he had to beat, and gave his American compatriots the overall team victory. * The above is the start of an article, yet to be published. Jeff Drenth attended my cross country camp prior to his junior and senior years in high school. He was a counselor for five years. He was the finest young man I have ever had the pleasure of knowing and working with. The young people that attended the camp idolized him. Bob Sevene, coach at Athletics West, said that he was the type of person who constantly gives of himself - - as an athlete and a human being. He liked to help people. He was tremendous with young people. The people who will lose the most will be the young kids. He had a great feel for running but he just loved young kids. Sev said he thought he would go on and become a great teacher and coach. Pete Spieles, who coached Jeff at Charlevoix High School, said he was vibrant and enthusiastic. He was so enthusiastic about life. He had such a tremendous drive to excel. He set goals and worked and worked to achieve those goals.

I thank his parents, Bob and Maxine and his brothers, Walt, Mark and Doug, for sharing him with me for the past nine

REMEMBER ALL THE GOOD TIMES. As Nan Doak said, "you wish everyone was like him."
